

Denisse Benitez

website: Denisse Benitez

instagram: @chasingdenisse

I stumbled upon a couple of images of hers that I felt applied to the project. (other than that she take too many selfies for my liking)

Bio

I moved to Arizona in September of '18 and now we're renovating our 1,500 sq ft home. We recently eloped at the beautiful Desert Botanical Gardens in Phoenix. Oh! We also have a puppy named Fern. Together (Fern helps too) we run our Photography business, Paris in June, and Chasing Denisse. I love my little family and I can't wait to share all of our adventures with you!

Creating content wasn't enough for me. I wanted to help others create their own content and elevate their personal brands. My 10+ years of experience in the blogging community and the photography community have allowed me to offer services like Lightroom presets, branding consultations and I can even help you make an incredible media kit. Although social media strategies are constantly changing, it's important to develop your own voice and I love helping people do just that.

Here's the short version: I've been a photographer for about 9 years. I've had the pleasure of working with the likes of The Knot, Latina Magazine, Essence, Vice, and so many more. I can name drop all day but let's keep it moving. I have also been blogging since angel fire (that's a really long time). Most recently I've grown known for my award-winning Street Style photography. That led me to work exclusively with bloggers, which has allowed me to travel all over the world and has inspired me to document my life as well. So, here we are. Welcome!

sample images below

