

Shutter Speeds explained

Shutter speed is controlled by the photographer to stop motion, or to create special artistic effects. On a manual camera it is controlled on the shutter speed selector knob. This is a shutter speed selector knob set to  $\frac{1}{4}$  of a second. ( In photographic terms this is a rather long exposure.)

---

The following picture shows a 1/15th of a second exposure:

The following photo shows a 1/60th of a second exposure

